The ball was immediately transferred to Hicks, who was trying to throw the runner out at first when Reggy pulled him around. The ball was jerked out of his hands and went between the first-base and the catcher. Of course the runner on third scored, but the man at first should third scored, out the man at this should have been out without the run.

Umpire Wingard said he did not see the play. What's the use? Nothing in the world but a combination of unlucky plays beat Richmond to-day.

Cuddy held Jack Anthony on the third sack in the first inning, when Jack could have made the plate and scored the run and applauded each play, and it was a good game all the way through. McDonald for Danville, pitching excellent ball at times. Eckstone did good twirling, but a hoodoo was following him. Morris Moore was in the grandstand and he had just returned from Richmond, where he gave some exhibitions of his hypnotic powers.

He might have passed his hands across the faces of the Richmond aggregation for all I know.

Benny took the field with his crowd of ballologists in the opening, and Titman wiggled the willow first. He was out from second to first and Cuddy popped up to third. Benny dropped Anthony's pop up and put the first man on the sack. Then Hicks pasted one to the free country, and Lee Sharp followed the example. Sharp's drive should have scored. It was 1 to 0, with the Lawmakers swinging to the zero mark until the sixth inning, when little Lee Sharp, that silent Fulton chap, who had already gotten Two singles, smacked one in the breast for two sacks. The Tobacconists started things to moving in their half when O'Neil, who had really been struck out by Eckstone, was binged in the shoulder. Benny sacrificed, making the first man out. McDonald sent a long fly to Sharp in left, and the little fellow muffed it. This put O'Neil on third, and McDonald on first. Reggy walked, filling the bases. Hahn came to bat, sent one to Cuddy, Cuddy sent it to Hicks and Reggy held the throwing arm of Hicks. Mr. Wiffsard did not see the play, What's the use?

To-day Laval, the southpaw, is slated

MONTAGUE STAKE LACROSSE GAME FOR INAUGURATION

Ormonde's Right By a

the bleacheries.

At both ends of the grounds are goal nots about six feet square facing each other. The object of the game is to throw a rubber ball by means of la crosse sticks into the opponents net, and for this purpose a dozen men on each size struggle fast and furlously.

It's the old game of "bandy" or "shinny" elevated to a scientific plane—or rathen it looks so to the uninitiated, although the truth is that it's Indian in its original and is now the Canadian National game.

The players were runnings shirts, short running breeches, socks and running shoes, and with bare legs look picturesque and cool. mile and a sixteenth—Inquisitor (8 to a) first, Ormonde's Right (8 to 1) second, Phil Finch (4 to 1) third. Time, 1:48 2-5. Fifth race—seiling, five and one-half furlongs—Lord of the Forest (8 to 5) first, Rye (5 to 1) second, Cassandra (4 to 1) third. Time, 1:07 3-5. Sixth race—five furlongs—Tanager (5 to 2) first, Economy (4 to 1) second, Aureolin (60 to 1) third. Time, 1:02 3-5.

Lillie Turner, Second Choice, Easily Wins Debutante Stakes.

La crosse perhaps requires more training, skill and courage than any game played. It is rougher than foot-ball, as delicate as tennis and requires all the nerve and courage a man possesses. In the game yesterday chief honors feil to Captain Bryan, of the Virginia team, who, with Lamb, Truitt and Davis made the star plays.

On Randolph-Macon team Captain Bradenbough, Beal and Midyette played well, as indeed the whole team did, considering that it had never played a match before and that the captain alone had had experience. Easily Wins Debutante Stakes.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 8.—Lillie

During the match Bryan and Davis were knocked down, and Beale received a severe blow on his head.

The game, however, was extremely gentle," there being no casualties.

Usually there are many accidents and blood flows like water.

It was not many minutes before Captain Bryan pasesd the ball rapidly to Lamb, who made a neat catch and sent it rapidly into the net. Three times within the twenty minutes was this repeated, and then the team changed sides.

On the second face off, Captain Bradenbough got the better of it and it looked for a moment as though Randolph-Macon might have a chance to score, but it was only short lived. Virginia got down to work and scored four more goals, thrown by Davis, Truett two, and Lamb.

The teams gave their yell and the crowd faded away, leaving only the Westmoreland and Commonweith Club men to practice for their game this afternoon. The line up of the two teams was as follows:

ball game takes place this afternoon at the Broad Street Park at 4 6 clock.

This announcement does not mean that the public will see a really good game of base-ball, but it means that all of Richmond society will be out in full force to cheer on the clubmen who will hustle after victory as though it were the only thing in the world worth having. In addition it means that Messrs, Arhton Starke, Charles Spicer, the long and short of life, assisted by that emirent South Carolinian, Mr. Charles Cotesworth Pinckney, and Mr. Watkins Ellerson, will sell peanuts, pop corn and other delicacles.

Mr. Horace Hawes and Dick Wortham rent South Carolinian, Mr. Charles Cotesworth Pinckney, and Mr. Vatkins Ellerson, will sell peanuts, pop corn and other delicacles.

Mr. Horace Hawes and Dick Wortham will have the monopoly on sandwiches, and Mr. Richard Pegram will hawk a fine line of "high binder" cigars, rit to choke a horse.

The "rooters" from both clubs, accompanied by brass bands, will be on hand and will get in the game, while there will not be a girl in town who will not be wearing either the blue and white of Commonwealth or the black and yellow of Westmoreland.

The preliminary practice has been mighty hard work for some of the players and aching muscles and bruised hands, the morning after, have told the story of mighty endeavor. Each afternoon the teams, headed by their captains, are cafoled and threatened into donning their base-ball togs and forsaking favorite corners and easy chairs in their clubs to take up the more strenuous vocation of silding bases, batting out files and fielding uply grounders. An occasional erratic ball finding temporary lodgment in the eye of an over-enthusiastic candidate in no wise dampens the ardor of these players. A black eye is now a badge of courage in club circles, and bandaged fingers are true signs of greatness. The sting of the horschide and the thud of the oaken bat alse bring up visions of bygone days when the old 'Varsity team with me on third walked into Carolina,' or words to that effect. Many of the players are old college men with fine records.

Captain Robert C. Bryan, of Westmoreland, has signed Mr. W. Gordon McCabe, and will play him in this aftermoon's game. Captain Joseph E. Williard, the manager, has purchased a typical manager's outlit for the occasion and will wear it for the first three immings. Major P. A. S. Brine has consented to act as treasurer for the joint clubs.

Incidentally, it is well to note that the game is for charity—the Girls' Club—and that those who pay to'enjoy the fun will be doing a kind act at the same time.

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—Pennsylvania authorities and students are incensed at what they claim to be the insuling treatment they have received from Harvard during the football negotiations. Harvard's student manager notified the Red and Blue manager that the Crimson faculty committee had forbidden his scheduling a game with Pennsylvania.
Pennsylvania's faculty committee wrote immediately, and received a long, evasive reply from Prof. White. A second request for an explicit statement brought a printed card inclosed in an envelope. On this card was the curt notification that there would be no football game. It is likely that the baseball games with Harvard will be cancelled.

In making three runs in the first inning, to a goose egg for Norfolk, the visitors seemed to have secured a safe Irad, but the very next inning, the Tercentennials handed the egg to the Shoemakers and had four runs chalked up to their credit.

It was a hard fight from that time till the game ended. In the fourth, Lynch-hurg made a run that tied the score. There was nothing more doing in the run-making column until the eighth, when Manager Grime's men cinched the game by driving in three runs.

Norfolk never scored after the second. Moser pitched a steadler game for the Tobacconists than did Leonard for the home team, and his fielding support was prehaps a shade better. There was much hitting on both sides and the fielders had plenty to do.
